“DOCTOR” is a word embedded with the meaning of teaching. Teaching and training basically are part of inherited duty when you are called a doctor. We shoulder a great mission and responsibility to guide the next generation. I believe, you all have achieved it today.

Learning is a lifelong journey with no destination, which all of us learn from each other, whether it be in life, in self, in one’s career, or in any other sphere of one’s existence. This is the commitment on the first day of our career.

I hope the award means an honour to be the best based on the perception and experience of learners, which is a symbol of your hard work, determination, and passion for success. My heartiest congratulations to all awardees. I am confident that you will go on to achieve great things, I wish you all the best in your future endeavors, and I believe, with you all, our community will lead to a bright future!

MEDICINE SESSION

Dr. CHUNG Kin-lai

Cluster Chief Executive
New Territories East Cluster, Hospital Authority
Hospital Chief Executive, Prince of Wales Hospital

I am excited to congratulate the distinguished teachers and distinguished students in the Medicine Teachers' and Students' Awards Presentation Ceremony 2023.

2023 is a significant year as we mark a new beginning, free from the clouds of the pandemic. One of the most important lessons from the pandemic is that, as medical students, it is crucial to remain vigilant and stay abreast of the latest medical knowledge to prepare for the unknown challenges that may lie ahead. Teachers are here to open doors for the students to explore the boundless world of medicine.

The CUHK Faculty of Medicine, which marked its 42nd anniversary, has made exceptional strides in medical research and service provision during the pandemic. Its noteworthy achievements include being ranked top three in Asia in the QS World University Ranking in 2023 and having seven CU Medicine professors named "Highly Cited Researchers 2022" by Clarivate Analytics. Additionally, the CU Medicine researchers made pioneering discoveries related to long COVID. These accomplishments have received international recognition and praise.

My sincerest congratulations to all the award-winning teachers and students. All of you have showcased the Faculty's motto of "Transforming our passion into perfection". And I wish the Faculty all the best in its continuous strive for excellence and to continue bringing more high-quality medical graduates to the local healthcare sector.

Dean's Message

Professor Francis K L Chan, SBS, JP

Dean, Faculty of Medicine

Choh-Ming Li Professor of Medicine and Therapeutics

The Chinese University of Hong Kong

After the lengthy pandemic restrictions, it is exhilarating to finally be able to gather without masks and celebrate the accomplishments of our dedicated teachers and students in teaching, learning and services at the Teachers' and Students' Awards Presentation Ceremony.

This year, it is our privilege to have Dr. PANG Fei-chau, Commissioner for Primary Healthcare of Health Bureau and President of the Hong Kong College of Community Medicine, to be our Guest of Honour for the Schools session, and Dr. CHUNG Kin-lai, Cluster Chief Executive of New Territories East Cluster and Hospital Chief Executive of Prince of Wales Hospital, to be our Guest of Honour for the Medicine session. I trust that attendees can all benefit from their words of wisdom and profound knowledge in public healthcare development.

CU Medicine continues to innovate and excel in medical education and research amid the pandemic. We are one of the top medical schools in Asia and worldwide, and our Nursing School continues to be remarkably outstanding, ranking 1st in Asia and 16th in the world. This would not have been possible without the contribution of our devoted and passionate teachers. I wish to loudly applaud all teachers for being the role models and mentors for our students, for giving them unwavering support during their academic journeys, and most importantly, for making them better and benevolent persons.

My dear students, you have weathered through the pandemic and proven yourselves both inside and beyond classroom. It is truly a delight to see your achievements not only in academic performance but also in serving the community.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for gracing this important occasion with your presence, in particular our benefactors and donors whose generosity and staunch support to the Faculty mean an invaluable source of encouragement. Your unfailing support continues to motivate our teachers and students in quest of excellence, and thereby making contributions for the betterment of the whole community.

Dr. CHEUNG Pak Hang Peter

Assistant Dean (Research)

Assistant Professor

Department of Chemical Pathology

Faculty of Medicine

The Chinese University of Hong Kong

I am honoured and grateful to have received this recognition from the Faculty. I am deeply inspired by the enthusiasm for education exemplified by our Dean, Professor Francis CHAN, and our Associate Dean (Education), Professor Samuel WONG. I am in debt to my greatest mentors: Professor Dennis LO, who instilled in me a sense of duty to educate future generations and strive for excellence; Professor Malik PEIRIS and Dr. Hui-Ling YEN, who instilled in me a lifelong commitment to learning with a humble heart, and Professor Xuhui HUANG for his steadfast support for trainees.

Thank you to everyone who has helped me along the way, notably Professor CK WONG for his leadership in guiding CUHK's MBChB students, Dr. Florence TANG and Dr. Ann LAU for their persistent efforts to improve teaching for the larger CUHK community, and my students (especially Dr. Xinzhou XU and Angela AU) for their loving support and criticalness, which have taught me so much. Instead of being something to be achieved, education, to me, is seen as an ongoing journey. We are fortunate to be a part of CUHK's open and supportive community for joining this journey together.

Lastly, I would like to thank my beloved family for their unconditional love and support.

Faculty of Medicine

The Chinese University of Hong Kong

I am grateful to Professor Allan CHANG, the Founding Professor of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, who initially inspired me in the development of web-based teaching in the early 2000s. The Covid-19 pandemic has reignited my passion in developing a web-based teaching app called 'Medicine Made Easy' to facilitate medical students' learning during this difficult period of time. Being my brainchild, the 'Medicine Made Easy' app encompasses not only my knowledge and skills in O&G, but also my wisdom accumulated throughout my 30-year career, which I am more than delighted to share with the next generation of doctors. I am gratified that students have found this all-in-one mobile app come in handy whenever and wherever they need it!

My Teaching Philosophy:

To teach as a role model,

To motivate with curiosity,

To drill with critical and analytical thinking,

To inspire with wisdom, and

To empower with state-of-the-art technology.

Global Physician-Leadership Stream (GPS) Team

It is an incredible honour to receive the Faculty Education Award! It is truly a recognition of the efforts and dedication of the entire team that has made Global Physician-Leadership Stream (GPS) a successful flagship programme in The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK). Established in 2013, GPS is the first leadership programme for medical undergraduates in Asia, which aimed to provide personalised education to our students with special emphasis on experiential learning and enhanced mentoring. We would like to express our sincere gratitude to Professor Francis CHAN, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine of CUHK, for his unwavering support, guidance, and encouragement over the past 10 years. Dean CHAN's commitment to achieve new heights in medical education was indeed a main driving force behind our innovative GPS programme.

We would also like to extend our heartfelt thanks to our Faculty colleagues and CUHK medical alumni who have made tremendous contributions to GPS by serving as mentors and coordinators/speakers for the leadership workshops, and providing personal guidance as well as research/learning opportunities to our GPS students. As a result of our concerted efforts, GPS has turned out to be a highly successful programme with excellent student learning outcomes in various areas including research, humanitarian work, international exposure, and leadership activities. We are able to attract most of the top scorers in university entrance examinations who aspire to become future physician-leaders to join CUHK and our GPS programme.

Our achievements today would not have been possible without the dedication and commitment of our colleagues, co-workers, alumni and our own GPS students. We believe that GPS will continue to serve as an effective teaching platform for nurturing medical students to become competent and passionate physician-leaders for the betterment of Hong Kong and the society at large.

Medicine

CHEUNG Cheuk Sin Bernice

MBChB (GPS), Graduate

I am honoured and humbled to be given this opportunity to express my gratitude. Hearing patients' stories, resilience and strength have been a constant inspiration and reminder of why I choose this path. Teachers, especially my GPS mentors, instilled in me the knowledge, skills and values necessary to become compassionate and competent doctors. The journey is challenging, yet extremely rewarding, owing to the camaraderie and motivation provided by my study groupmates and fellow classmates.

To my family and loved ones, there were times when my studies and commitments took me away from you, but your unwavering love, belief in me and endless sacrifices have been the driving force behind my success.

I am proud to be a graduate of CU Medicine, and I am excited for the opportunities and challenges that lie ahead as a doctor and as an educator.

Medicine

TANG Tung

MBChB (GPS), Year 6 Student

I am immensely grateful to the Faculty for such a fruitful and humbling journey at CU Medicine over the past 5 years. Learning amidst the pandemic has not been easy, and it would not have been possible if it were not for our teachers who took the time and effort to teach us with the utmost patience. Their continuous endeavor in serving patients and nurturing students is a great source of inspiration to us.

I would also like to express my gratitude to my parents for their constant support, and my friends for their companionship during difficult times. Their love is what enabled me to come this far.

Most importantly, I am indebted to all the patients who have shared their stories with us during our clerkship. Their selflessness is the reason we can learn and grow as medical students, and I will cherish every lesson they have taught us.

Biomedical Sciences

TSANG Yuk Wah

Biomedical Sciences, Year 2 Student

My heartfelt gratitude goes to everyone in my life, from my beloved family and friends, who have always offered me their unwavering support, to all the honourable professors and lecturers, who teach with great effort and professionalism.

To me, learning is as enjoyable as gathering pieces of jigsaw puzzles together. While our teachers have provided us with most of the puzzle pieces, others remain to be discovered by ourselves. In the end, we can only construct the whole picture after integrating them into the right places.

I am eternally grateful for being able to begin my journey in such a warm and welcoming environment provided by the School of Biomedical Sciences, and I would love to continue dedicating myself to Biomedical Sciences and research.

Chinese Medicine

LEE Ka Lai

Chinese Medicine, Year 3 Student

Life is a highway, but having your company, I will never be alone. First, I would like to express my heartiest gratitude to the scholarship donors and the School of Chinese Medicine for the recognition. I am thankful to God, for leading me to study Chinese Medicine at the CUHK.

Thank you, our teachers. Not only have you taught us professional knowledge and skills, but you have also inspired us to be a patient-centred doctor from your clinical experience and understanding of TCM classics. “Da Yi Jing Cheng (大醫精誠)” is never a slogan, but, instead, it is real practice.

Thank you, my family and friends who always stand by me to share my joy and encourage me to embrace challenges. Perseverance is crucial to the journey of achieving my dream, and all your support has consolidated my determination. Above all, I will strive to do my best to be a good Chinese Medicine practitioner in the future.

Nursing

WONG Ching Yeung

Nursing, Year 5 Student

I am truly honoured to be one of the awardees this year, and it was my perseverance and relentless drive that brought me here. I am deeply grateful to my dearest parents and friends for always being there for me, day in and day out, allowing me to focus and do what I do. All of this would not be possible without them. I would also like to take this opportunity to express my heartfelt gratitude to the Faculty and School for their unwavering support, enabling me to reach my goals in academia and community services. For the upcoming endeavor, I will always remember to remain humble and serve the needy with empathy.

Pharmacy

YEONG Chung Yan Agnes

Pharmacy, Year 4 Student

I would like to thank the scholarship selection committee and donors for recognising and acknowledging my hard work throughout these years. I am so grateful to everyone who believed in me for your endless support. The most important ones are my parents, who have always encouraged me and all the teaching staff of the School of Pharmacy, especially my academic advisor in providing valuable feedback and nurturing me into a professional pharmacist with passion and care. Being a pharmacist is what I pursue. These awards solidify my beliefs and motivate me to work even harder. In the future, I will apply my knowledge to safeguard patients' health, upholding medication safety and efficacy. I am looking forward to and ready for this challenging yet rewarding journey.

Public Health

SZE-TO, Man Sum Michelle

Public Health, Year 3 Student

I would like to express my sincerest gratitude to my teachers from the School and the Faculty for inspiring and empowering me with their knowledge, professionalism, and sense of mission. I am grateful to my parents for always providing me strength and motivation with their unconditional love and unfailing support. Studying public health under the COVID-19 pandemic has been a challenging yet inspiring journey of incorporating book knowledge with real life. The ample learning opportunities inside and outside the classroom, along with the pandemic-induced hardships that echoed with book knowledge, did not only equip me with professional knowledge, but also stimulated my personal growth and inspired me to contemplate my mission as a future healthcare professional.
